DSI Quality Assurance

It should come as no surprise, that success in medical devices means overcoming compliance challenges. The business case for quality compliance is undeniable – quality affects every stakeholder in the medical value chain. Quality is a central concern from product design through manufacturing and marketing.

DSI takes pride in the extensive knowledge and training of its staff. Our dedicated Client service personnel have years of experience in the dental field and use this expertise to assist dental professionals in using DSI products to provide patients with the ultimate dental care.

We try harder

We maintain our quality management system through documented procedures, qualification of personnel, validation of processes and an emphasis on Customer' satisfaction and feedback. DSI continues its quality management system preservation with monthly quality and data analysis meetings, bi-annual internal audits, and an annual external audit from an ISO certification body.

U.S. Food & Drug Administration

DSI has successfully established the FDA Medical Devices Registration and obtain the FDA 510(k) approval for certain implant products. The ISO 13485:2016 requirements exceed that of the FDA's requirements for medical device manufacturers. This gives the medical professionals an added confidence in the quality, authenticity and performance expectations of the DSI products.

Medical Device Manufacturing Certificate

DSI is leading the pack with an ISO 13485:2016 and CE – Full Quality Assurance System certification for medical devices, issued by MDC medical devices registration GmbH, Germany. This combination of the highest level of Quality Management System certification and top-tier Notified Body is among the most difficult and globally recognized certifications to obtain and maintain.
