

Innovation Stage

Food4Future - Next Generation Food Tech

Yannick Gächter

Collaboration in the Food System of Tomorrow

I will focus on one example of best practice in developing the Food Systems of Tomorrow through collaboration at scale. Starting with today's biggest problems that need to be solved, what impact we can expect if we do or do not solve that need and one way we can work towards this, specifically in relation to fermentation & cultured food. Through collaboration we have a chance to truly have an impact on creating a nutritious, sustainable and global Food System.